THE 1954

Tower

COLLEGE YEARBOOK OF STOUT STUDENT ASSOCIATION
THE STOUT INSTITUTE AT MENOMONIE, WISCONSIN

ABOUT THIS BOOK

From the tower the old clock looks down upon the doors of The Stout Institute.

Familiar doors.

Behind them, important things happen: Personalities are molded, skills are developed, experience of the ages is blended with the originality of the youth it serves.

Nothing beyond these doors remains static—every person stepping over these thresholds finds himself in ever-changing worlds. The 1954 TOWER is the story of these people and these thresholds.

FOR THE PROMOTION OF
LEARNING SKILL INDUSTRY HONOR

 Scholastic

THE PRESIDENT

College graduation has frequently been compared to a doorway, and rightly so. The college graduate has not completed his efforts. Rather he stands before a doorway leading to professional achievement and worthwhile service to all mankind.

We feel that this year's Stout Institute graduates, as has been true of graduates since the founding of our college, are eminently fitted to approach the doorway of the future and pass through into a career of accomplishment and honor. Intellectually, spiritually, and physically they have matured as part of America's great program of higher education.

And new doors of educational opportunity are also opening on the campus of Stout Institute. The doors of our splendid new library, so long sought by the college, have swung open to provide Stout students with completely modern library facilities and a wealth of educational source materials. Soon, we hope, other doors will be opening into a girls' dormitory, for which plans are already well underway.

Yes, college graduation calls to mind the images of doorways. We bid Godspeed to the graduates who pass from the campus into a world of unlimited opportunity. And we are proud to open the doors of new educational facilities for the preparation of generations of students yet to come.

Arne C. Fryklund

President
The Stout Institute

GRAD STUDIES

Wigen sits at his desk, answering one of the many questions on graduate studies.

EDUCATIONAL DEANS

Kirk and Jarvis are leaders in their professional fields of Industrial Arts and Home Economics.

ADMINISTRATION

PERSONNEL

Director Iversen sits in the student union with Dean of Women Antrim and Dean of Men Price.

CURRICULUM

Like all educational institutions, The Stout Institute has a curriculum. Unlike most educational institutions, ours deals especially with Home Economics, Industrial Education, and their related fields. These professional subjects plus the equally important academic ones make the Stout curriculum balanced and versatile.

Here are the people who keep the wheels turning. They are the hard working main-spring of the school system. They are your faculty.

ENGLISH

Fleming, Chairman Callahan, and Nelson sit at a desk in the English department where they plan the year's program.

ACADEMIC

SPEECH

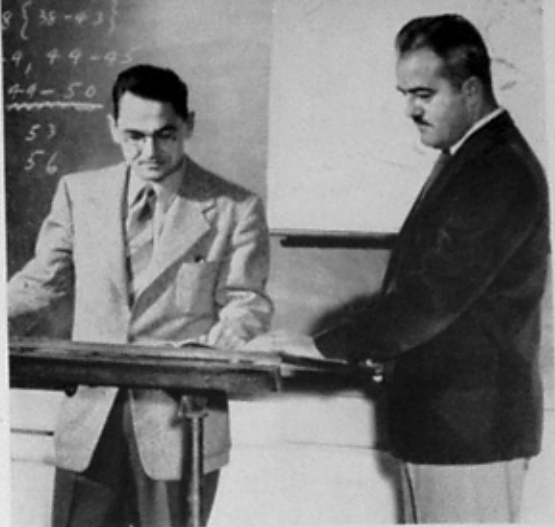

Important to every prospective teacher are the speech courses taught by Hain and Ziemann.

PSYCHOLOGY

Salzer and Oetting, local experts on behavior, look over the results of a manual dexterity peg-board test.

SOC. SCIENCE

Agnew and Parmer get together to save the world. Ethnocentrically speaking, of course.

BIOLOGY

Arneson and Marshall pose for the TOWER camera. The unhealthy looking individual is not a faculty member.

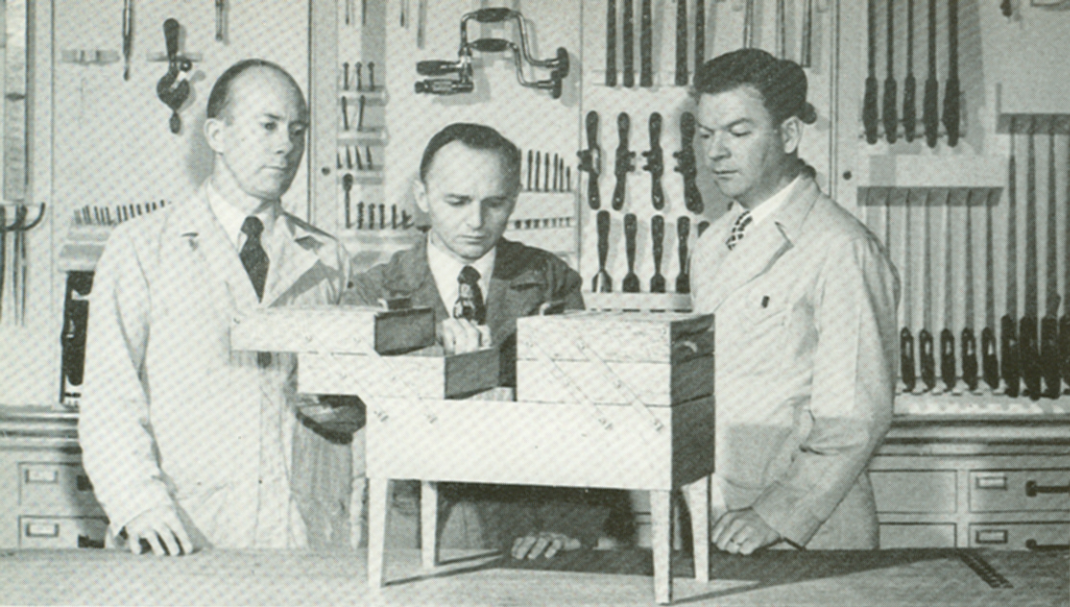

MATH & PHYSICS

Harber, Rich, and Reneson, who instruct the physics and math courses, set up an electronic experiment.

CHEMISTRY

Nitz and Cox, both chemistry teachers, set up an experiment prior to a laboratory period.

WOODWORKING

Soderberg, Olsen, and Anderson inspect a typical wood project.

SHOP

GENERAL SHOP

Leatherwork, Plastics and Ceramics are taught by Kranzusch and Swanson in these basic and advanced courses.

AUTOMOTIVE

Auto mechanics instructor Rawson is shown running an ignition check in the shop.

DRAWING

Instructors Ray and Siefert present some of the models made by students in General and Architectural Drawing courses.

ELECTRICITY

Ruehl, amid volts, ohms
and amperes.

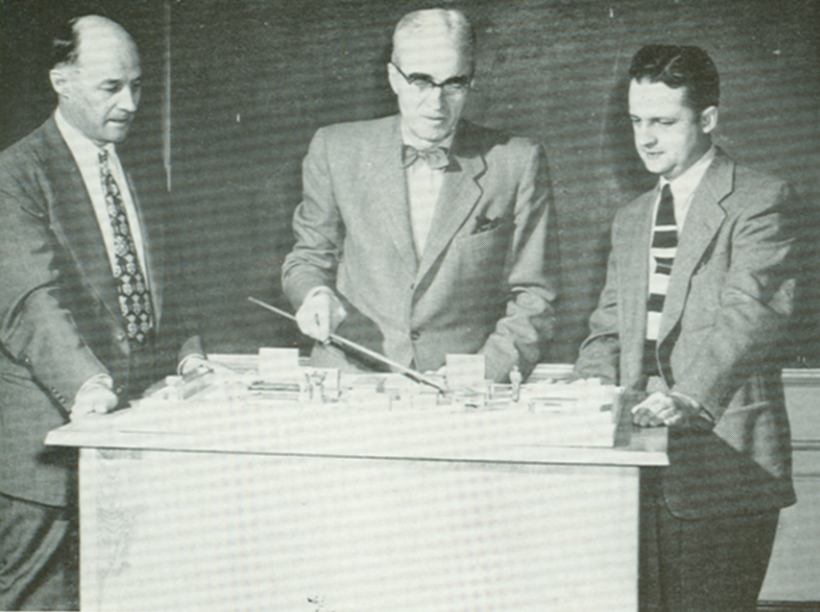

METALWORKING

Klatt, Milnes, and Keith teach Sheet Metal, Machine
Shop, and General Metals.

PRINTING

Cornwell and Whydotski check the final proof of the STOUTONIA before it goes to press in the Stout print shop.

INDUSTRIAL ED.

Working with scale models on a miniature floor, Wall, Chinnock, and Rudiger plan the layout for a school shop.

HOME EC. ED.

Shown are Harper, Noble, and Elliott looking over a floor plan for a school Home Economics lab.

CLOTHING

Jeter, Van Ness, and Clark are shown in the lab.

FOODS

Nelson, Carrison, and Meiller examine a loaf of bread in one of the food laboratories.

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

ART

Amon and Thvedt are working together on an original Christmas wrapping paper design printed by the silk screen stencil process.

HOME ECONOMICS

HOME MANAGEMENT

At the Home Management House, Trullinger sets the dining room table.

NURSERY

Smith and Parmer observe the goldfish. Behind them is the screened booth where students observe the children.

REGISTRAR

O'Brien and secretary Knopps look into the records to send students' credentials to a school.

ENGINEER

Stronzinsky keeps the Stout electrical system in order.

NURSE

Preparing to needle same one, Kuhn loads her hypodermic syringe.

SECRETARIES

Thoeny, Rogers, King, Larsen, Bilse, Moen, Lokken, Hosford, Alt.

SUPT. Reen looks at a maintenance plan for a Stout shop.

BUSINESS OFFICE

Schoepp and Thompson, in the business office, check some records of materials.

SERVICES

Indispensable to us are the people who care for our health, comfort, business transactions and our future.

OFFICE

Gunnes, Holzhveter, and Becker take time out from their stenographic and secretarial duties to pose for the TOWER photographer.

CAFE

Killian and Harris prepare part of the menu for the school cafeteria. Killian plans the menus, organizes the cafe workers, and teaches Quantity Cookery and Tea Room.

THEY MOVED THOUSANDS OF BOOKS IN ONE DAY

LIBRARY

Stout students watched the mortar, bricks, and blueprints grow into a sleek, modern building. Here the students can go to study, to find reference material, or to watch films in the projection room. The Library is the first building in the new expansion plan for Stout.

GRADUATION

One hundred forty seniors have finished their schooling this year. As President Fryklund had prophesied when they were freshmen . . . the years here were short ones.

During these years, this class was little different from others. As a group they followed where the pattern of classes before them had gone. But while they were here, things were happening that affected this class as no other.

They watched a new building materialize, the first one in many years.

They saw a war come and go. Some of them fought in it, and came back; others did not come back.

As they elected class representatives, their nation elected a Republican to the presidency of the United States for the first time since all but a few of them were born.

On June 4, 1954, this class graduates from The Stout Institute.

SENIORS

The Juniors started the year out by entering the prize float in the Homecoming parade. The float, a jumbo swan composed of chicken wire and 10,000 paper napkins, looked even prettier than the matching blue Oldsmobile pulling it. They did justice to the Homecoming season with their dance decorations. A monstrous football hung from the rafters with blue and white streamers descending from it. The success of the dance helped offset the score of the game.

FOR THE JUNIORS, A BLUE RIBBON

No longer green, the Sophomores returned to their old home full of ambition that served them well when they helped in the 1954 social events.

They did their share to promote Homecoming spirit by decorating the town with traditional Blue Devils and banners. The Homecoming queen was a Sophomore too, for the second time.

At Christmas they decorated for the all-school dance. Snow flakes and a Christmas tree were added for atmosphere.

All tickets read "Menomonic" this year as one of the largest Freshman classes in history enrolled at Stout. Dorms were packed, classes were overloaded.

The class lost no time in getting acquainted via parties, picnics, and tours. They were part of Stout in no time.

After electing officers, the Freshmen went to work on the Homecoming bonfire, a traditional Freshman project. This year, for the first time, they used a crane to help speed the work. Along with the bonfire, they entered a float in the parade.

Early in the Spring, the Freshman members of the Home Ec. Club put on their annual "Green Tea" in the Harvey Memorial.

Homecoming activities got underway Friday evening with the crowning of the queen. Immediately following, the band led the torchlight parade to the fairgrounds for the lighting of the bonfire and for welcoming-home speeches for the alumni.

Saturday's events began with the numerous sorority, fraternity and alumni breakfasts. The parade was the highlight of the afternoon with many humorous and beautiful floats. Sigma Tau Gamma constructed the float that was most in keeping with the theme, and the Junior Class entered the most beautiful float.

PHI UPSILON OMICRON

Members of Phi Upsilon Omicron have worked very hard this year on a big professional project. They are making a survey of the women graduates of Stout Institute for the past five years and sending them questionnaires. Results will be tabulated and made available through a display in the new library.

New ideas were gained from the visit of Mrs. Edna Moran during national inspection of Tau Chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Through joint meetings with E.P.T. and the Home Economics Club, the activities and interests of Phi U. members were integrated with other professional organizations on the campus.

New members, taken into Phi U every spring and fall, are chosen for their scholastic achievements and leadership ability.

Last year an alumnae chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron was established in Menomonie. Joint meetings with the alums have added interest and meaning to the organization.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

The Eta Kappa chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, has been organized and advanced on the national and local level to serve the nation, community, and campus.

Membership includes former Boy Scouts and men interested in scouting who wish to stress "service" on the college campus.

The Eta Kappa chapter has helped improve the Stout campus by providing trash containers at strategic positions, supporting and advertising the annual blood drive, working as scoutmasters for the local scout troops, working as merit badge counselors, and sponsoring kite flying contests for the local Cub Scouts.

Ushers at football games, ticket takers at basketball games and traffic directors at Nelson field are all members of Alpha Phi Omega.

On their field trip this year, the members had an interesting and informative visit to the Ford Plant in Minneapolis. Mr. Wilder Crane, a distinguished educator, was the speaker at this year's joint meeting with Phi Upsilon Omicron. The Christmas party and spring picnic were social events enjoyed by the members.

The initiation of new members takes place each semester. A pledge is required to stand before the fraternity members and is subjected to a thorough examination. The formal initiation is held the following morning. Here the pledges are informed of the secrets of the organization. A formal banquet with a prominent guest speaker winds up the day.

S-CLUB

The "S" Club is the official organization for men in varsity athletics. Membership is open only to athletes who receive the major letter. The main purpose of the club is building character and personality in all who participate in athletic competition.

An array of fun-filled side shows and eye-appealing booths attract the student body when the "S" Club holds its annual carnival in the Stout gymnasium.

The Dad's Day program is the most important function of the club. This day is set aside for dads of football players. The dads are welcomed by the "S" Club at a special program, so designed for the dads that they may become better acquainted with one another and with Stout. A noon luncheon for the mothers is also a part of the Dad's Day program.

All intramural programs—basketball, bowling, volley ball, and badminton—and the annual athletic Award Day are also under the sponsorship of the "S" Club.

A Big and Little Sister campaign is the beginning of the year's work for the "YW." The first Sunday of the school year, Big Sisters invite their Little Sisters to a tea held in the Harvey Memorial. Later in February the acquaintances are renewed with an informal reunion.

Highlight of the Christmas season is the decorating of the Christmas trees in the corridor of the Home Economics building.

Each spring the "YW" holds its annual Mother-Daughter banquet which gives the girls a chance to entertain their mothers for a delightful week-end on campus.

The main objective of Christian service is carried on throughout the year. Thanksgiving baskets, vesper services, and fund drives for needy foreign students occupy the members' time.

Promotion of the World Student Service drive was a chief project this year. With the help of S.C.F. they sponsored a student assembly and entertained a student from India for one day.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

To develop an appreciation and interpretation of drama; to provide a chance to gain skill in staging dramatic productions; to provide a recreational activity which may serve as preparation for future vocational or avocational work; to contribute to the cultural life of the college: These are the objectives of the Manual Arts Players chapter of Alpha Psi Omega.

"Petticoat Fever," a comedy, was presented in November to the delight of all who attended. The spring production was "Years Ago."

In order to be on the other side of the footlights once in a while, the M.A.P.'s attend neighboring college productions. To see the best in dramatic entertainment, they attend a professional production.

Honors are given annually, one to an outstanding student in the field of dramatics, and one to a graduating member.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

One of the most industrious groups on campus is the Stout Arts and Crafts club. The members meet in general shop and turn out attractive, useful projects. Lamps are made from wood and plastic. Purses and other leather articles are results of careful tooling and lacing.

The membership is open to students and faculty alike. It gives these members an opportunity to make worthwhile use of their leisure time and to develop skill in working with their hands.

A unique social event, the annual Card Party, is sponsored by arts and crafts. Here the winning players receive handsome prizes made by members of the club.

STOUT CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

"Ye Shall Be Witnesses Unto Me," was the theme of the conference which Stout Christian Fellowship held in Menomonie this spring. Speaking at the conference was Dr. Bob Smith, professor of philosophy at Bethel college in St. Paul.

SCF is a local chapter of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. IVCF is a world-wide student organization set up for the purpose of spreading the Christian faith. On the campuses of big universities and little colleges, Christian students have joined together for fellowship and a strengthening of their faith.

Bible study at the weekly meeting of the Stout Christian Fellowship is based on the writings of many people and the thoughts and ideas of students themselves.

Group meetings with similar groups in neighboring colleges, sale of religious Christmas cards, membership in The Stout Institute Inter-religious Council, and cooperative projects with the YWCA are all campus activities of the Stout Christian Fellowship.

Conventions, social activities, mixers, and professional projects were all on the agenda of the Home Economics club, professional organization for all women students.

"Using Our Club Resources" was the theme of the annual Home Economics Convention held at Stout this year. At the convention, Stout girls depicted some of their yearly activities in a series of skits.

Fruit cake for Christmas was a project of the Home Economics Club this year. The cakes were sold on order, and then baked and wrapped for the Christmas season.

The first all-school mixer of the year was sponsored by the Home Ec club at Wakanda Park.

Home Economics as a profession was promoted at two social affairs, a Christmas tea and a style review.

A fit conclusion for the year was the Senior Breakfast, held for all senior women.

RIFLE CLUB

The Stout Rifle Club is an organization affiliated with the National Rifle Association and is devoted to the furtherance of marksmanship and knowledge of the safe use of firearms on the Stout campus and in the community.

The nimrods specialize in the use of small-bore rifles and pistols, but are also familiar with well over $3000 worth of equipment at its disposal, with new equipment being added every year. It has established an indoor small-bore rifle range in the upper gym of Bowman Hall.

Each year, the rifle club engages in small-bore postal rifle matches with many of the leading colleges and universities of the nation. There were many freshmen on the team this year, assuring the club of improved teams in the future. The rifle club is one of the few organizations open to Freshmen at Stout Institute.

SKI CLUB

A near record low in snow precipitation this season held the slope activities of the Ski Club to a minimum. Skiing activities lasted only one month, and a poor month it was at that. As a result there were disappointed shoosh-boomers this winter.

The outstanding club project was to start a collection of extra equipment to be used by interested Stout students. A donation of skis from President Fryklund and a fund-raising campaign by skiers succeeded in getting the project under way.

The activities of the Ski Club came to an abrupt end when a balmy February liquidated the last of the snow. The club concluded one of its most active years in spite of the elements, which limited its functions to the campus rather than the slopes of Deepwood.

Mary in her big skirt was one of the highlights of the homecoming parade. Hyperians worked many hours on the float for the big fall event.

Throughout the year the Hyp girls sponsored several dances. The most gala affair was the dinner dance held in the spring of the year.

Christmas cards with a block print of The Stout Institute tower on them were sold in the hall. Hyp girls also stuffed toys for the children's hospital in Chipewa Falls.

Everyone enjoys a little informality such as "Ye Old Heidelberg" provides. At this traditional tea of the Hyperian sorority, the guests this year sat at tables and drank rootbeer to German and folk tunes played on an accordion.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

Fall found the girls of Alpha Sigma busier than ever. With twelve pledges and all the Homecoming activities, the girls had very little spare time. There was a mum sale and an alumni breakfast. The girls observed Founder's Day in November.

In February, Alpha Sigma Alpha gave the girls a chance to "catch a man" by sponsoring Sadie Hawkins Week. Festivities included a candy sale, St. Valentine's Tea, Sadie Hawkins Dance, and the annual pigtail contest. Many a Daisy Mae caught her Li'l Abner during Sadie Hawkins Week.

Members of Alpha Sigma Alpha attend church as a group once a month. Their group objectives include furthering the spiritual development of their members.

A.S.A. was very proud of two pledges: Marie Strodthoff, who reigned as queen of 1953 Stout Homecoming, and Pat Casberg, Rose of Sigma Tau.

"Violets Remind Me of You," say the members of Sigma Sigma Sigma as they look back on the year 1953-54. They look back and see a year of teas, dances, social service and sales.

With Halloween came the Tri Sigma's tea in Harvey memorial.

Dad's Day Dance was co-sponsored by the Tri Sigs. Bake sales and the big Christmas sale of hand-made articles kept the rest of the months full of activity.

Tri Sigma sorority has established the Robbie Page Memorial Fund to be used for polio research. Social service is carried out at Christmas too, when the girls help a needy Menomonie family.

All of these activities and more are remembered by all members at the big Senior Send Off at the end of the year.

PALLAS ATHENES

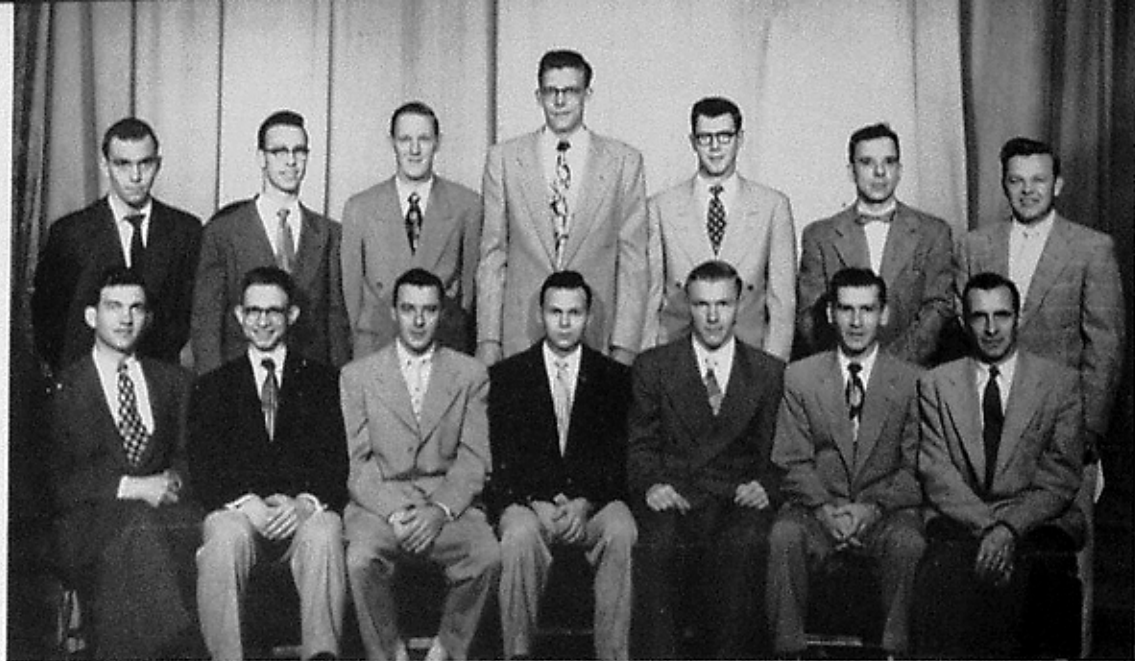

Parties, projects, and pledges — all of these things and many more have filled the P.A.'s calendar this year. At Christmas time the girls filled two large boxes with gifts for the poor instead of exchanging gifts. The annual Snowbrawl was held in February as part of the Winter Carnival.

The senior members of the group were each made responsible for a social meeting during the year and as a result there were many good times at skating, swimming, and movie parties along with picnics and informal parties. The P.A.'s also attended church in a group four times during the year. The dinner dance at the country club on May 15 and the senior banquet finished this year's activities for the Pallas Athene Sorority.

All of these activities are a part of the objective of the sorority: to develop social poise and ability.

S.T.S.

The Stout Typographical Society, an old and well-established organization on the Stout campus, serves men majoring in the Graphic Arts and Printing fields.

Highlights of the year's activities were open house in commemoration of Printing Education Week, the annual STS field trip (this year to Minneapolis and St. Paul), the Wazygoose, and several informal get-togethers.

The STS is one of the few organizations on the campus that is relatively free from a financial burden. Its members raise money by doing printing for other organizations on the campus.

To stimulate interest in the graphic arts and printing fields, three degrees of membership have been established: the apprentice degree for beginning members, the journeyman degree for intermediate members, and the coveted master degree for advanced members.

DIETETICS CLUB

Remember those luscious ham-salad sandwiches and those big red apples that were sold at the dorms? These sales were sponsored by the Dietetics Club, the local organization for women in that field.

Dietetics Club also sponsors Nutrition Week, bringing scientific knowledge of food to the attention of the students by means of charts and posters. In the Cafeteria, a free meal is given to the person eating the most nutritious meal when the bell sounds. The goal of the week is to improve the students' practice in choosing healthful food.

In the fall the club had a picnic at Riverside Park and a field trip to Luther Hospital in Eau Claire.

DELTA KAPPA

Maroon and white sweaters worn by the members of Delta Kappa Fraternity were a common sight on the Stout campus this year. The D. K.'s had a busy year. A dinner dance held at the country club was a big success. The fraternity also participated in intramural sports, the team losing out early in the tournament. The D. K.'s sponsored the annual "Tacky Drag," one of the school's most popular dances.

Selling coffee at football games and distributing Christmas baskets were other functions of the D. K.'s this year.

The members of Delta Kappa were justly proud when one of its members was elected vice president of the S.S.A. Two other members also held offices in the sophomore class.

This year the fraternity pledged fifteen new members.

Sigma Tau Gamma is a social fraternity on the campus. Their social activities extend beyond the active members to all Stout students. At the fall formal, the Rose Dance, the fraternity is host to the student body. Their all-school smoker for men is always a big success. The men also entertain Sig Tau alums at the Homecoming Breakfast.

Alpha Kappa chapter had its work to complete too: Preparation for the Rose Dance and other social functions, selling candy apples at the football games, and participation in the fraternity duties. The men created a prize-winning float for the homecoming parade and played an active role in intramural sports.

Since its organization as the Kappa Phi Sigma fraternity in 1931, the newly nationalized Omega Chapter of the Phi Sigma Epsilon has been very active on the Stout Institute campus.

The Phi Sigs started the new school year by electing Oliver Agerlie as president to replace Willis Capps, who was elevated to the post of SSA president. Other officers for the year were Richard Bilse, vice president; Leroy Sharkey, secretary-treasurer; Fred Kneisler, sergeant-at-arms; Leo Janis, corresponding secretary; and Al Ochs, historian.

The P.S.E. has sponsored and participated in the Homecoming breakfast, Dad's Day dance, city-wide paper drive, Christmas caroling, skit-nite, intramural basketball, blood donation, P.S.E.-F.O.B. grudge game, and the Phi Sig dinner dance.

The F.O.B.'s, the only local fraternity on the campus, was founded secretly by a group of Stout men in the days when fraternities were forbidden here. Today this organization is proud of its contributions to the social life of the college.

This year, the F.O.B.'s sponsored the Duffy's Tavern dance, the F.O.B. Milk Bar, and Stunt Nite, one of the biggest events of the year. Stunt Nite attracted contestants from ten campus organizations, who shared in the many prizes awarded. The Grudge Game of basketball with the Phi Sigs and the dinner dance at the country club were other F.O.B. activities.

W.R.A., a set of initials appearing in the Tower for the first time, is not a new organization, but a name change for W.A.A.

The Women's Recreational Association provides an opportunity for the women at Stout to participate in a variety of sports.

The W.R.A. raised money during the year by selling the college pets, blue and white kangaroos. The women also sold hot dogs at the football games.

A sports spree for the incoming Freshmen and a gymjam for all students were among the traditional events sponsored by the W.R.A.

Something new this year, open to the entire student body, was synchronized swimming. In April, the group put on its water ballet for the public.

INTERSORORITY

The Stout Panhellenic Council is composed of the president, secretary, and advisor of each social sorority in addition to Dean Antrim, who acts as advisor for the group. Its function is to promote co-operation and friendliness among the sororities.

The Panhellenic Council sponsored several events throughout the year. In the fall, they held a rushing party for all Sophomore women who were eligible to join sororities. On Dad's Day, the Council entertained the mothers of the team and had a tea for them. Their biggest project was undertaken at Christmas time when they sponsored the Panhellenic Ball. This year's theme was "Stardust on Holly." The year ended with a rushing party held to get acquainted with transfer students and Freshman women.

FOR WALTERS, A BUDGET TO WORK OUT

The Tower staff has been working hard this year. The numerous deadlines had to be met. It all began when the production staff chose a theme and then constructed a "dummy." Pictures and copy blocks had to be arranged in a pleasing pattern so that each page was a carefully balanced picture. Next, the photography department took the lead. Shots of activities, people, and places began to flood the Tower office. Just before Christmas vacation, the literary staff went into action. Stories had to be written, captions composed, and identifications of groups straightened out.

With the co-operation of the student body and the combined talent of the Tower staff and advisors, the 1954 Tower went to press.

SYMPHONIC SINGERS

IN EARLY MORNING, A SLEEPY START

The large musical organization on campus had another fruitful year. With a great deal of new talent and an experienced core of returning musicians, they presented several musical programs.

A full concert on Halloween began the year. As the curtain closed, Mr. Hardt mentioned . . . Christmas. Soon the music was brought out and plans were made for the annual Christmas concert.

Back from Christmas vacation, the musicians begin working on the program for the spring tour. Early on the morn of March 29, three busloads of students left Menomonie on their spring tour.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

The instrumental music department, consisting of concert and marching bands, solo workers, and the entertaining German Band, is one of the most popular departments here at The Stout Institute. The fact that the members enjoy music and have also found fellowship and fun together makes the group outstanding.

The band is divided into two groups, the marching band, which plays for football games and local parades, and the concert band. Our concert band has now been incorporated with the choir into the symphonic singers. This group goes out on tour every spring. The programs presented help enrich the prestige of Stout and its music department. Here at Stout, three concerts are presented during the year: a fall concert, Christmas concert, and spring concert.

A very young and inexperienced squad did its best to win football honors for its Alma Mater, but met with teams larger and far more experienced throughout the season. Its poor showing in the won and lost column (1-7) was made up for by the spirit and effort which the club delivered in action against the strong competition. Spirited rallies for yardage often came from them, constantly reminding the opposition not to take the Bluedevils lightly. At least during the first half of the season, power always won out in the end and forced the hard-fighting Bluedevils to give in to the surge. The second half of the season found the team gaining in power and experience.

FOOTBALL

The time lapse from the beginning of the season had seen many injury losses, and yet the gridders dug in and rushed harder than ever. After outplaying Eau Claire, the improved squad went on to down St. Cloud, the previously undefeated champions of the Minnesota State Teachers conference. Although a good part of the team was composed of freshmen, these newcomers to the Stout lineup pulled together in the final games. They added their power to that of the few letter winners from last year to create a vastly improved outfit which was a credit to the only two seniors in their midst. These two men, Stebly and Henderson, were further honored when they were named as members of the Wisconsin State College all-conference team.

BASKETBALL

The Bluedevils opened the 1953-54 basketball season by defeating Winona 55-49. This was a fitting start for an active season. With this incentive the team went on to tally several wins before the season closed.

Play began with a team composed primarily of returning cage veterans, who showed skill in ball handling and defensive play. Before the season had progressed very far, however, the freshmen had taken over starting positions, with the exception of forward Tom Stewart. These men displayed speed and sharp-shooting skill as they did their best to give a good show for the Stout audience.

The season ended with the Stout quintet holding the tail end of a record with only three wins. Several of the games were dropped by close margins. With a large number of returning lettermen next year, there is hope that the "close ones" can be turned into victories.

TENNIS

Stout is an active participant in tennis, one of the fastest-moving summer sports. The season was concluded without a loss.

At the Bi-state meet in Minnesota the team copped second place honors. Bill Stern, playing first singles, was high man at the meet.

The Bluedevil squad concluded its play for the 1953 season at the state meet. Bill Stern was chosen as player-coach for 1954.

GOLF

The most successful athletic team representing Stout in '53 was the golf team. They captured six of their meets, tied one, and lost only two.

The golfers really showed their form at the Bi-state meet in Mankato. They took second place honors and player-coach, Bob Takasaki, was medalist at this meet. Bob also came second in individual honors at the state meet.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals for boys is a well organized program under the direction of Jack Wink. This system follows the pattern of progressive education in that it brings athletic competition to all of the students instead of the select few. Each sport is open to all.

The intramural schedule goes into swing with the beginning of swimming and basketball in the fall. It is possible to swim for recreation or to take classes in life-guarding. Those organizations featuring basketball teams form a league for the season. These two sports, along with rifle shooting and archery, constitute the first part of the intramural season.

The organization of bowling and volleyball teams starts the spring intramurals. Nelson field and the country club provide plenty of room for the baseball players and the golfers. On this page pictures show some of the spring intramurals activities.

The basketball intramurals were won by the FOB team.

VICE-PRESIDENT LUTKEMEYER CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT LEBEGUE

The graduate department at The Stout Institute expands educational opportunities for students. More than thirty-five students were enrolled in this year's graduate program. The program is headed by Ray Wigen, who has directed graduate studies since 1935. The program prepares master teachers and professional workers in home economics and industrial arts.

Mr. Wigen believes the master's degree will soon become the accepted standard for secondary teachers in the nation. More than 400 students have received a master's degree from The Stout Institute.

ALUMNI

The Stout Institute Alumni Association welcomes all of you into its fold. By reason of your graduation from Stout, you are a paid-up member for one year in our Alumni Association.

May this first year of membership be only the beginning of a lifetime of fellowship with the many Stout graduates. As an active member you will receive both the Stoutonia, and the Newsletter, plus other important mailings. Through these publications you will retain contact with former classmates and with the school which has become so much a part of you.

A post card containing your address sent to The Stout Institute Alumni Association, Menomonie, Wisconsin, is all that is needed to assure you of getting the Stoutonia and Newsletter.

When you arrive at your new place of residence, contact Stout graduates in your area for information about local chapter activities. Help make our organization function by playing your energetic part.
